FOX HUNTERS FINISH A GREAT MEETING

W. J. Christopher, of Winchester, Captures Three Cups—The Awards in Big Events

What was perhaps the most successful meet that the Central Kentucky Fox Hunters' Association has held in many years was concluded at College Hill Friday with the running of the final stakes on the program. Hunters and hounds galore were on hand and with delightful weather, a big time was had by everyone. There were 35 dogs in the derby and 84 in the all-age stake, which shows the quality that had to be exhibited to win at this great meet.

W. J. Christopher, of Winchester, was one of the most successful owners at the meet, taking three handsome cups. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President—Arthur Beagle, Reliance, Ohio.

First Vice President—Jake Hackett, Richmond.

Second Vice President—W. M. Ramsey, Winchester.

Third Vice President—Black Mountain, Kingston.

Fourth Vice President—Waller Hutton, Winchester.

Secretary and Treasurer—Thos. W. Reeves, Richmond.

The decision of the judges in the two big stakes, the Derby and the All-Age Stake and the Bench Show were:

CHARLES MEETS LITTLE OPPOSITION

(By Associated Press)
Paris, France, Oct. 21.—The United Council of Ambassadors informed that troops of former Emperor Charles are closing in on Budapest without much resistance from the forces opposing his restoration to the Hungarian throne.

DODGES TO MEET PAINT LICK TUESDAY

The Dodge football eleven is to meet the Paint Lick boys' team on the Normal campus here Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The local boys won their game with the Clark County High Freshmen last week at Winchester with several huge "ringers" against them, they say. This stamped the Dodge boys as a mighty shifty bunch of youngsters and they are ready to meet any boys' team under 15 years of age. Dunn, Blanton and McCord played star football at Winchester. McCord is a valuable addition to the team. He is playing tackle. Blanton and Young are also strong points on the eleven, on each end. Harold will start at half against Paint Lick. The line-up announced by Capt. Samley is: Kier, center, Jett and Black guards, Maupin and McCord tackles, Young and Blanton ends, Saulley quarter, Pearson full and Harold and Dunn halves. The game will start at 3 o'clock and a large crowd is expected.

EDENTON

The farmers of this section have begun to gather corn. Rev. F. N. Tindler, of Kirksville, is conducting a revival service at Salem church.

Mr. and Mrs. Reather Smith are the proud parents of a nine pound boy, born October 14. He has been named Sterling.

Miss Flossie Warren, of Newby, was the week-end guest of her aunt, Miss Myrtle Warren, to attend services at Salem.

Mrs. Herbert Teater and Miss Geneva Murphy were shoppers in Nicholasville, Tuesday.

Miss Jessie B. Ray, of near Lancaster, spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Anna Mae Whitaker.

NO CHANGE IN STRIKE SITUATION

Railway Signalmen and Many Other Unions Refuse to Go Out With Brotherhoods

(By Associated Press)

No Change in Situation
Cleveland, O., Oct. 24.—The Big five brotherhood chiefs after two hours' conference, today behind guarded doors, announced at adjournment, "the situation is unchanged." This was the only comment they would make.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The four big brotherhoods and the switchmen union reiterated their warning to the Federal Railway Labor Board that only a "satisfactory settlement" can prevent the railroad strike called for next Sunday morning. It was learned today.

Replying to the board's citation to appear here Wednesday the unions telegraphed the board "the only power in our hands is to advise our men that a satisfactory settlement has been reached."

If the strike is called, however, there were indications today that the strikers may find themselves without directing leaders as the board has summoned the 1,400 general chairmen of the five unions to come here with the officers for prolonged hearings. This would leave the locals without leaders.

While the board today issued a statement saying "There is green reason to hope the strike may be averted," the strong stand of the union executives indicates a long drawn-out hearing.

It is understood that neither the board nor the Washington administration has any plan to present, at least at this time, but it is understood President Harding told the board members they had a free rein to work out their own solution, with the administration backing them.

Meanwhile nine of the 16 standard unions have refused to support the proposed strike. Union men pointed out today they had not expected any general support.

He Gets His Wish Too

Washington, Oct. 24.—The penitentiary sentence of five years imposed upon Herman Dierkes, of Cincinnati, stands, the Supreme Court held today. Dierkes was charged with saying "I had rather serve a term in the penitentiary than wear a uniform in Wilson's Wall Street war."

Rumor Charles Is Killed

(By Associated Press)

Budapest, Oct. 24.—The Hungarian government forces it is officially announced today, won pronounced successes against the former Emperor Charles' forces. They recaptured the town of Raab and are attacking Carlsta in the rear. One unverified report says Charles has been assassinated.

Signalmen Bolt the Strike

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen will not join the brotherhoods and the switchmen in the contemplated strike, President D. W. Helt announced today. President Manion of the Railway Telegraphers had just previously announced the telegraphers adhered to their decision to strike with the brotherhood. The telegraphers are the only body of rail employees to go out with the big five organizations. The signalmen number 15,000. They were instructed today to remain at work.

PROMINENT CITIZEN OF STANFORD DIES

J. Ed Bruce, one of Lincoln county's most prominent retired farmers, died at Stanford at an early hour Sunday morning. Funeral services were conducted on Monday afternoon at 2:30. Mr. Bruce is survived by his wife and two children, Robert T. Bruce, who married Miss Bessie Turley, of Richmond and Mrs. J. S. Baughman. The deceased was a man of sterling integrity of character, of strong convictions and a leading member of the Christian church.

HUNDRED MILLION POUNDS SIGNED

Sapiro Speaks At Lexington and Bingham Says Movement for Plan is Bound to Succeed

Reports to the big tobacco meeting at Lexington Friday showed that 100,924,323 pounds of tobacco had been signed in the pool of the Barley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association and that five additional counties—Mason, Clark, Jessamine, Nelson and Oldham—had been added to the ten that previously had reached their quota.

Lexington business and professional men and women gave an informal reception and welcome to Judge Robert W. Bingham, Aaron Sapiro, of California, who planned the organization, and the associates in the movement, as a testimonial of the business and professional people of this work done by these gentlemen for the barley grower, and for the business interests of the state and the district.

Mason county has signed 4,826,846 pounds, according to the report of Secretary J. N. Kehoe about 77 per cent of the county's production. Work is to be continued in Mason, which is one of the largest barley producing counties.

Montgomery county reported 97 1-4 per cent signed, 3,775,000 pounds out of a total of 3,908,000 grown in 1920.

Bourbon county has signed more than 90 per cent of its 1920 production, 7,915,093 pounds having been signed.

Bath county has signed 97 per cent of its acreage.

County chairmen are to receive their new goals the coming week from headquarters at Lexington showing just how much tobacco it is necessary to sign to put each county in the district over.

Judge Robert W. Bingham, broker and financier of the movement, said he was confident the organization would win by November 15.

A BIG DAY FOR MADISON DEMOCRATS

Real, Old-Fashioned Love Feast Held At Court House Here Saturday Afternoon

Madison county democrats gave evidence of the faith that is in them for the coming county election by a great outpouring at the courthouse Saturday afternoon.

It was a real, honest-to-goodness, old-fashioned Democratic love feast. The big courtroom was unable to hold the crowd that came in response to an invitation from Chairman J. J. Greenleaf to discuss the election and plans to redeem old Madison and elect the splendid ticket that is offered to the voters.

Men and women from every precinct in the county answered to the roll call. There were not less than three from each precinct and often as many as 20 or 30 from precincts. No stronger assurance could possibly be found of the intention of the democrats to elect their ticket than this magnificent outpouring of the splendid representatives of the party.

And each and every one pledged himself and herself to work with might and main from now till the last vote is put in the ballot boxes on the afternoon of November 8th. Men and women do not often take an interest in politics were on hand and enthusiastically pledged their efforts to win success. All seemed to realize the tremendous importance of winning this victory. Old Madison has given republican majorities the last two elections in state and national races. However, never have the good citizens of this county had such a fine lot of men offer as candidates for their county offices as are on the Democratic ticket, and the workers feel that with every democrat at his post of duty the old roster can be met to crowing again in Madison on November 8th.

Chairman J. J. Greenleaf called the meeting to order and made a heart to heart talk to every democrat present. He didn't try any oratory, but told them what they would have to do to win this election. It was a clean-cut, business, organization talk and every man and woman present realized the intense earnestness of the speaker, and responded enthusiastically when he called for pledges from workers.

Then that old war-horse of Democracy, Hon. W. B. Smith, heeded the big crowd with one of his sensible talks. Mr. Smith has battled for Democracy in times of sunshine and storm and has never been found wanting when the party needed him. He is the oldest democrat in the county and one of its most gallant veterans, and from a long life of experience in other battles, he urged the members of this great party to forget their differences and stand a solid phalanx against the enemy on Nov. 8th.

Then Judge G. B. Angel proved the sterling quality of his democracy once more. He lost in the race for the nomination for County Judge but like the good game democrat that he is, he took the floor and pledged his every effort to help elect the ticket on Nov. 8th. He declared that there are no sore spots on him, and he is ready to take off his coat and go to the bat for every man on the ticket. He urged his fellow democrats to stand true in this hour of need. Judge Angel's remarks were greeted with much applause and made him many more warm friends and admirers for his staunch democracy.

The final address was made by Judge W. R. Shackelford, who gave the "boys and girls" one of his famous "rabble-rousing" talks that makes the roosters crow when they hear him. Judge Shackelford talked straight from the shoulder. He put the pep into it, and into every democrat present, and all went home determined to do their best to work and work hard every day from now until the Ides of November. It was a great day for Democracy and seems to presage a still greater day on the 8th of next month.

Mrs. T. N. Baker, of Macon, Ga., is the guest of her brother, Prof. H. H. Brock.

CANDIDATES KEYED UP TO HIGHEST PITCH

The Second Week of Contest Finds Them Running Neck and Neck—List Grows

The Daily Register's subscription contest is certainly going off "big." The candidates entering the "fray" have surpassed the expectations of the management, and each candidate seems to have put their whole body and soul into the contest, realizing that the four grand prizes offered to the successful winners are not to be scorned.

The Contest Manager had no idea that as many candidates would enter as have already been signed. In fact, he says, that Madison county has some of the liveliest wires he has ever met up with in all his experience.

Judging by the way the candidates are bringing in subscriptions, the Daily Register will have a subscription list at the close of the contest equal to dailies of the larger cities.

The Daily Register is lending assistance to all of the candidates. The Contest Manager started out Monday morning to make a thorough canvass of each precinct with the candidates and with the special extra votes that are allowed on each subscription. There is no reason why each and every candidate should not get a splendid standing.

Opportunity Votes are being given in the contest until November 1st, and if the candidates ever had an opportunity to pile up their votes, now is the time.

There's no paper in any county that has met with the approval of its readers as has the Daily Register and getting subscriptions is as easy as the old proverbial saying of "falling off a log."

Candidates don't be satisfied until you have secured every family in your community. Come to the Daily Register office at all times sample copies and after they have once read the Daily Register, it's an easy matter to secure their subscriptions.

Remember, there is a man at the Daily Register office at all times to assist candidates in their work.

CUMBERLAND WINS FROM EASTERN

Eastern Normal was defeated at football by Cumberland College at Williamsburg Saturday by the score of 33 to 0. Like the State University Sports the Cumberland had outwitted Normal many pounds to the man. Eastern was also in poor condition. Five of her men played with the high school boys at Middlesboro Friday and Rowland was not able to play in the Cumberland game. Maunus star end, was also badly missed, and two nights of traveling didn't help any either.

Eastern has not as yet arranged a game for this week, but the Model III will play Hustonville III at Hustonville Saturday. A good game is expected.

15 ADDITIONS AT POND SERVICES

The revival conducted by Dr. E. J. McDougle at the Pond Christian church during the past two weeks, came to a close Sunday night with 15 accessions to the church. Twelve of them were by confession and baptism. The body was greatly edified and some strong members were added at this meeting, some prominent citizens in that community joining the congregation.

Escaped Convict Returns To Pen

Frankfort, Oct. 24.—Zeke Anderson, a mountaineer near Elk-born City, sentenced in 1918 to 15 years for murder and who escaped from the Rockcastle road camp last spring, went home and made crop for his family's winter food and then surrendered at the reformatory here today. He said he never attempted to evade officers. Moreover he came here with his family in the summer in a fruitless endeavor to see the governor about a pardon.

M'DOUGLE ANSWERS EVERY ARGUMENT

Delivers Convincing Address To Great Crowd Saturday Against School Amendments

It was delayed a week, but when he did get a chance to reply to the arguments in favor of the two proposed constitutional amendments made by Dr. Adams and Supt. Colvin, was as the boys would say "an ample sufficiency." From first to last, before a crowd that filled the courtroom to its utmost capacity Saturday afternoon Dr. E. J. McDougle presented arguments against the amendments that to his friends seem absolutely unanswerable. He gave his listeners facts and figures that might almost be said to have as-ounded them. And he had his audience with him from first to last. Predictions were heard freely that old Madison is going to roll up a larger vote against the amendments this year than she has recorded on any constitutional change in many years.

Waller Bennett, presiding chairman over the meeting and in his introductory remarks made some mighty strong points in opposition to the amendments himself. He declared that he did not wish to see Kentuckians surrender their sovereignty as proposed or undo the work in the constitution which had been framed by many wise and great men, among them the late Curtis F. Birmann, of Madison county. In his address Dr. E. J. McDougle spoke in part as follows:

Dr. McDougle's Address
Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—

I am here this afternoon, not from any self-seeking, but at the call of my countrymen. You have asked through signed petitions and personal appeal that I discuss the merits of the question involved in the proposed school amendments to the state constitution. I am happy to know that we can meet in this great assembly with representative citizenry from every section of the county without feelings of party bias. I am speaking to you, not under the wings of the Democratic rooster, nor under the caves of the Republican log cabin, but under the folds of our common flag.

I have been advised to refrain from speaking to you because it is claimed that all the so-called "big guns" are advocating the adoption of the amendments. I would remind you that the great World War was not won by the nation that had the "big guns" on its side. It was the brave men who fought with the small arms and from trench to trench that finally drove the enemies of democracy into defeat. I am assured from many quarters that the rank and file of the common school teachers are almost solid against the proposition. Out at the Normal school last August, with a summer attendance of adult and experienced teachers, the straw vote was about forty to one against. Here in the court house, a week later the teachers of Madison county voted about twenty-five to one against. It is highly poor patriotism that causes one to wait until some others have made up their minds how to vote and then fall in with the crowd, or the "big guns." You should vote on this issue because you have certain and definite convictions formed from knowing the facts of our educational history. I am appealing to no one to vote as I do just because I do. Last Saturday you heard in this room three distinguished and able Nazim Bey Gives Life to Save Force of Ismet Pasha.

Commander-in-Chief Declares That in all Military Experience He Knows of No Finer Deed of Heroism.

Headquarters Turkish Nationalist Army.—Col. Nazim Bey, with his Fourth division, lost his life and saved the main body of Gen. Ismet Pasha's forces from being taken in the rear and possibly routed during the frontal attack made with superior forces and equipment by the Greeks in the Kutahla zone.

In recognition of his services, Gen. Ismet Pasha published a note to the army stating that in his entire military career, including also his knowledge of military history, he knew of no finer example of heroism and intelligent valor. He also paid high tribute to the remnants of Col. Nazim's division remaining after standing for two days against three Greek divisions, any one of which was stated to be superior in numbers to that of Nazim.

The Greeks had planned, in addition to the frontal attack on Kutahla, a surprise raid on the Turkish rear with threatening divisions, and the surprise appears to have been complete.

So soon as their presence in force was discovered Nazim Bey was the last to leave the main army to stop them, or halt their progress until the rear from Kutahla could be effected. He did so, and during those forty-eight hours of constant fighting and maneuvering he was wounded by a rifle bullet, but kept on his horse until struck by a second bullet, toward the end of the fight.

He died, but with the knowledge that he had saved the main body of the army. "Kismet" (This fate) were his last words.

Col. Nazim Bey was a short, thin man of 45 years, quiet and gentlemanly in his deportment, speaking loudly, with a large head and thoughtful, melancholy gray eyes. A soldier by profession, he served during the World war on several of the front lines, and mostly on the Russian. He would have borne the title of general as division commander under the old imperial army, but the nationalists have expressed that title except for officers commanding more than an army corps.

HUGE SKELETON UNEARTHED

Indiana Produces Bones of Man Believed to Have Been Mound Builder.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The complete skeleton of one of Indiana's oldest inhabitants, said by Dr. W. N. Logan, state geologist, to be that of a mound builder, has been placed in the state museum.

The skeleton, more than six feet in height, was found by T. C. Hiestand of Bloomington and Dick Guernsey of Bedford, in excavating a prehistoric mound near the east fork of White river, in Lawrence county. Doctor Logan says the time when the mound builders inhabited Indiana cannot be determined as to years, but that it was a long period before the first record of the Indians is certain.

The mound from which the body was taken was in the form of a square with a vault system constructed of slabs of limestone. The skeleton was lying as buried, with all parts intact, and in position, with the exception of some of the more fragile parts.

GOES TO HUNT GOAT BEAR

Los Angeles Collector of Wild Animals Sails for Indo-China on Unusual Quest.

San Francisco, Cal.—D. S. Babb, Los Angeles, collector of rare wild animals, has sailed from San Francisco this week for Cambodia, Indo-China, where he will penetrate the jungles in search of the goat bear.

The goat bear, according to Babb, has seldom been seen by white men and has never been captured alive, although he says he saw the skin of one of the animals on his last visit. Whether the animal is a bear with the horns of a goat or a goat with the claws of a bear, Babb is not sure.

To add to the difficulty of obtaining this rare beast the natives refuse to aid in its capture on account of a superstition that one who sees it is bewitched, says Babb.

Fumes From Home Brew Made Neighbors Drunk

Home brewing has become such a passion with Thomas Higgins of Brooklyn, N. Y., that his neighbors informed Magistrate Liota they were becoming drunk from the fumes ascending from his kitchen. His wife complains that Higgins himself became intoxicated. Before Magistrate Liota let Higgins go, he made him promise not to brew for a year or to taste another's product.

proponents of the amendment. We have a right to conclude that they are the ablest advocates of the cause and that you heard the very strongest arguments that they can present. I would remind you that the burden of proof rests with them. They are proposing to change the fundamental law of the land. We insist that this should only be done when grave injustice is being done to a goodly number of our people and that the change proposed will correct the evils without adding any to another group of citizens.

That Second Amendment

Those who spoke last Saturday did not discuss the second amendment. One speaker, with a wave of his hand, merely said that it would not result in any raise in your taxes. He did not tell you how it is possible to withdraw ten percent of the state school fund from our cities, towns and counties and still make it possible for the school to run their usual term, with salaries increased without adding to the burden of taxes. One might as well try to make the citizens of Madison county believe the moon is made of green cheese or that you can get out of a turnip as to read from the History of Education to make you believe that taking $800,000 out of Richmond's school, the Department of Education at $4,000 out of Madison county's fund will not need $200,000 more to be paid to the state a reflection of salaries of school use was written by President T. J. Coates. On page 7 we learn that the national government gave Kentucky $1,436,757 in 1836; that with this as a basis, the state legislature established the common school system in 1837; that the legislature for years plundered this sacred fund under one pretext or another until the great fight in 1850 led by that brilliant and courageous educational leader, Robert J. Breckinridge, placed the school fund "beyond legislation and beyond party." Listen to a few quotations from this history:

"Kentucky accepted her distributable share on the conditions proposed but her first act of legislation was a partial violation of the pledged faith." p 7.

"Embarked upon an extensive and costly system of internal improvement... the state speedily exhausted its treasury; and in order to preserve her credit, drew again upon the resources of the common schools." p 8.

"The friends of the common schools appealed to the general assembly not to sacrifice a fund so sacredly consecrated to education, but they appealed in vain." p 8.

"Despairing of success through the efforts of legislation, which day after day existed, they reduced the fund to a mere pittance, and they had founded a system but to destroy it, the friends of education made a final move in the right direction, by appealing the whole subject from administration and officer down at Frankfort, that legislatures, to the power whose interests had hitherto been little consulted in reference to it— and that power, the people of Kentucky." p 8 and 9.

On page 11 we are told that the sum received from the national government was reduced by legislation in 1858 to $850,000, thus plundering the school fund of $387,757 at the very beginning of its existence.

On pages 41-42, we have this eloquent tribute to the great work of Supt. Breckinridge in securing the placing of the school funds in the constitution of 1850:

"To Dr. Breckinridge, above all others, the people of Kentucky owe the establishment of our System of Common Schools. He found that system a ruin; he left it a majestic fabric; he found it a prey to legislation and the plunder of party; he left it beyond legislation and beyond party, fixed immovable among the powers of government in the organic law of a great commonwealth."

"The school system is made a part of the Constitution. No longer could schools be made subject to the whims of the legislature." Page 51.

And now, my friends, we are asked to vote part of that system out of the constitution, out of the organic laws of the state, and place it back where legislatures may again handle it. We are asked to release now a sum running a little above $400,000 each year so that legislatures each session will have more than $800,000 to dispose of every time they meet. And each state superintendent who serves full four years will have released from the constitution and subject to distribution according to whatever legislatures may decide a sum running beyond $1,600,000. Are you sure it is safe to do it?

Some More School History

It is not generally known that for the first fifteen years of our school history, Kentucky state superintendents of public instruction were appointed by the governor. Dr. Breckinridge was appointed to serve his first term, but the constitution of 1850 made the office elective and he was elected for his second term by the people in 1851.

We are told that the first amendment should carry because under the constitution the state superintendent cannot proceed with a great program since he cannot surrender his tasks to another who will not agree with his plans. I want to remind you that the constitution can be so amended as to permit this official to be re-elected without taking his election out of the hands of the people. Why did not those who argue this defect not propose to correct it without making the office appointive?

On page 52 of his History of Education, Mr. Coates says: "To any one who reads carefully the various laws relating to school matters that have been passed by Kentucky legislatures since the founding of the system—and their name is legion—two facts stand out clear and distinct:

First, the principle of local self government in school affairs from time to time the pendulum of school legislation has swung away from this principle; but invariably it has swung back again.

As a corollary to this principle, we find an inveterate hostility to putting too much power into the hands of one man. It may be a good thing in the abstract, but Kentuckians simply will not stand for it; and there is no use trying to change the nature of a great people by legislation."

And on page 55 we have this admirable statement: "There are two ways of filling the office of State Superintendent—by appointment and by election—and Kentucky has tried both. She tried the appointive system for fifteen years and abandoned it as not suited to her conditions. She tried the elective system for about sixty-three years. There is no question that Superintendent Breckinridge considered the elective system the better—a great constitutional office, better than one dependent upon the will of a politician, even though that politician be the governor himself."

And now, my countrymen, you are being asked to return to a system once tried and abandoned as unsatisfactory and turn the clock back in Kentucky's educational history 75 years.

In his address here last Saturday, the speaker stated that there was another subject from administration and officer down at Frankfort, that legislatures, to the power whose interests had hitherto been little consulted in reference to it— and that power, the people of Kentucky." p 8 and 9.

Schools Are Not Retrograding

I want to denounce this statement that our schools are going down—down, and a serious charge against the splendid corps of teachers who have taught them, to say that those have added no improvement to the schools of the commonwealth. In 1908 there was but a handful of first-class high schools in Kentucky; today more than 300 high schools call several thousand ambitious and happy youths to their classes every day.

At I turn the page of the biennial report of the state superintendent I read upon almost every page where county superintendents are reporting from their counties that progress is being made, and with one accord they mention what has been done in school house building, in increased attendance and in public enthusiasm. With all such statements before us we have a right to be proud of our advancement in our schools, and to demand the same kind of compliment now that these same orators are so wont to give us when they stand in the beautiful springtime, and tell of our two Normal schools, and in 1900, thousands of our most ambitious teachers have sought wonderful progress has been made to give us such opportunities as are afforded our youth today. My friends, more bright-eyed boys and girls are sitting at the feet of trained teachers who are receiving better pay than in schools today than ever known in the state's history. And our march is still onward and upward.

If the immortal Lincoln had seen a Kentuckian, were here now I fancy I could hear him say:

"It is time to see on whether we shall turn the national clock backward, or whether we shall continue to march onward with our national interests even, taking firmer hold upon our people, and this state shall continue to build new school houses rapidly, and go on improving school conditions in consolidation and in school facilities, increased attendance and enlarged teacher training—and that the government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not dishonor the land."

A vote of NO on both amendments will mean just that.

All Interest In The Richmond Daily Register's CONTEST Centers Around Opportunity Coupons

Ambition has raised men from lowest circumstances to the highest pinnacles of fame. This world would be a mighty poor place to live were it not for ambition.

Daily Register Grand Prize and Subscription Campaign is for the ambitious, the thrifty and for those who are willing to put their spare moments to profitable advantage.

In past two days we have laid stress upon "The Opportunity Coupons." All interest in this campaign from now until November 1st, centers around these coupons. We realize that for one to take advantage of the five Opportunity Coupons, amounting to 50,000 extra votes, one must have ambition, energy, perseverance, and stick-to-it-iveness. It is a known fact that ambitious people who strive to reach the top of the ladder, while they may not always succeed, do land somewhere along the middle. Those who lack the above mentioned quality never climb higher than the first few rounds.

At the present moment the top of the ladder is the obtaining of five OPPORTUNITY COUPONS. If you try for five you will at least secure one or more of these valuable Coupons. If you try for one only you may not even secure that one.

The advantages of these coupons are numerous:

1- They positively possess the greatest vote value that will be given during the entire campaign.

2- They will positively be withdrawn November 1st.

3- Those obtaining one or more of these Coupons can rest assured they will have a comfortable lead over candidates who enter at a late period.

4- By informing your friends that you have succeeded in securing one or more Coupons, they will know you are out to win and will give you their support.

There are many persons who would like to enter this campaign, but who are a trifle timid or do not fully understand its details. Again we say, all you have to do to enter, is to fill out the Nomination Coupon, appearing elsewhere in this paper, and send the same to the Daily Register. Better still, bring it yourself and talk over the matter with the Campaign Manager, whom you will find ready to assist in any way possible.

Campaign is in its infancy; in fact it has not even started well.

Probably you have been keeping in touch with the campaign, and all the publicity since the opening announcements. You should bear in mind that a campaign of this magnitude requires an abundant amount of detail work, hence our previous efforts have been devoted solely to preliminary preparations.

Now, "Candidates to be," remember there is yet plenty of time for ambition and energy to assert itself; therefore, take advantage of the Opportunity Offer and get an even start while "Opportunity Period" is on.

The campaign will be over in five short weeks, and 2 automobiles, 1 Edison and 1 Victrola, together with a liberal cash commission, will be awarded to those who have shown pluck and ambition and have helped Madison county's enterprising daily.

In conclusion, ask yourself the following questions:

Are the prizes worth making a determined effort to win?

Could you spend your spare moments to better advantage?

Is this not the most liberal offer ever made by a newspaper in this vicinity?

SWIFT PRODUCE REVIEW

There were liberal receipts of cream at the creameries during the week, with no particular change in price.

Reports that large quantities of New Zealand and Australian butter would arrive later in the season were current. Some Danish butter is being received every week at Eastern seaboard.

The Bureau of Markets of the United States Department of Agriculture, in its report for Thursday, October 20, shows quotations on eight different grades of butter, with the difference in value of 15 cents a pound between the lowest and highest grades.

The quality of the butter from abroad is generally very fine, while there is a great deal of medium class butter produced in the United States, as is shown by the range in market quotations. Bet-care of cream and prompt delivery will tend to improve the quality of the American product.

Receipts of fresh eggs are small and higher prices are ruling on all markets.

Poultry receipts have been ample for all requirements during the week, but the smaller breeds are being discriminated against.

The vote of employees in three big packing houses looks like a strike.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Of Land and Personal Property

ON
Thursday, October 27

10 A. M.—RAIN OR SHINE

2 FARMS-- 108 acre farm, 112 acre farm

LOCATION

in Madison county, 12 miles east of Richmond on the L. & N. Railroad. Both of these farms are close to the Panola pike.

IMPROVEMENTS

FARM No. 1—The 108 acre farm is one-fourth mile from Panola, on Drowning Creek, close to pike. Improvements—5 room house, good stock barn, all necessary out door buildings, well watered by wells, springs, ponds, and creek; young orchard, good garden. This year there were 50 acres in corn, 20 acres in wheat, 15 acres in meadow, balance in grass. This is known as the old John Todd tract of land. This farm will be divided and offered in two tracts containing 40 and 68 acres; then as a whole.

FARM No. 2—The 112 acres is one mile east of Panola and known as the Ledford tract of land. Improvements—5 room house, good out buildings, tobacco barn and stock barn, well watered, good fences. 6 acres in corn this year, balance in grass. There are 14 acres in Drowning Creek Bottom on this tract. This farm will be offered as a whole, no subdivision here.

At the same time and place we will sell for Mr. Chasteen, the following personal property:—

13 head of yearling steers	300 shocks of corn and fodder
32 shoats	1 corn planter
3 brood sows	1 wheat drill
1 pair of mules	1 cultivator
1 pair of mules, 5 years old	1 mowing machine; 1 hay rake

Household and kitchen furniture too numerous to mention.

This body of land lays well and can be cultivated with a tractor.

THIS SALE WILL BE CONDUCTED ON THE 108 ACRE FARM.

The fact that Mr. Chasteen expects to leave his farms and move to Berea, constitutes his only reason for wanting to sell these two farms as he realizes he is giving up a good money making proposition.

Conditions and terms liberal and made known on day of sale. Any intending purchaser need not worry about the terms. Possession will be given on January 1st, 1922. By calling at our office we will be glad to show any prospective buyers over these farms before day of sale or by calling on Mr. Chasteen.

ROCHESTER WOMAN TELLS EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Lehman Had Suffered Ten Years From Indigestion—In Splendid Health Now

"I suffered for ten years from nervous indigestion. I had no appetite and always felt miserable. I was in such a serious condition I thought my time for this world was getting short. My food didn't seem to nourish me at all and I only weighed 85 pounds.

"After taking Tanlac, I now weigh 108 and am gaining every day. Oh! there is such a wonderful change now. Tanlac relieved my troubles so quickly it surprised me. My appetite is splendid. I have plenty of strength and feel better than I have in years. I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for what Tanlac did for me."

The above statement was made by Mrs. Clara Lehman, Bristol Hotel, Rochester, N. Y.

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son and other leading druggists.

ON TWO-YEAR CRUISE

Here are Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Chasteen, who have just returned from a two-year cruise. They are standing in front of a large ship, the S.S. "The Home Town", which they sailed on for a 50,000-mile cruise around the world that cost just over two years. There are eight others in the ship's company.

THE HOME TOWN

We live in this town because we believe in it. We believe in it because it is a good town, regardless of its few few defects, and its people are the peers of those to be found anywhere.

This town may not have the wealth of some more favored communities, but it has character, and character is a possession which can not be purchased with gold.

If you believe in your home town you will like it, and if you like it no effort toward its improvement will be too great for you.

Again we ask you to have faith in your own powers, to also have faith in your own town.

When you feel like criticizing it check the thought before it is spoken. You can always find something good to say instead, and even then the truth of the truth will never be told.

It is a good town now, but faith, loyalty and unselfish action will make it a better one.

Our faith in this town, however, is simply faith in you, because the town is a collection of you. Surely your faith is not less than ours.

Let us unite—let us act—for a more cohesive community.

It is your home—and ours.—The Scottish Chief.

A sixty gallon moonshine still was found on an island in Barren river not far from Bowling Green.

Mrs. Sue Cardwell Hardin died in Harrodsburg, aged 77. She was the wife of Col. Ben Lee Hardin.

Harry Sommers says in the Elizabethtown News that the voter who casts his ballot for the constitutional amendments admits he hasn't sense enough to select a State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Canfield has added a very handsome and commodious Dodge business to his existing plant.

Commissioner's Sale

Wm. and Mary Haden's Heirs vs. Wm. and Mary Haden's Heirs

Defendants

Pursuant to judgment and order of sale in the above styled action, by the Madison Circuit Court at its October term, 1921, the undersigned Commissioner will expose to public sale to the best bidder on the premises, near Forest Hill school house, at the hour of 10:30 o'clock a. m. on Tuesday, October 25th, 1921 the following described tracts of land:

1st Tract—Lying on the north side of Jacks Creek pike and containing 138 acres, and adjoining the lands of Hood Wells, Elmer Cosby, and others.

2nd Tract—Containing 45 acres and lying on the north side of Jacks Creek pike, and adjoining the lands of Hood Wells, Elmer Cosby, Albert Reed and others.

These two tracts of land are well improved and convenient to school and church, and very fine soil. Both lie in Madison county, Ky., and on a good road.

Said two tracts of land will be sold separately, and the sale will be had on the home tract.

Term—Said land will be sold on a credit of six and twelve months, the purchasers being required to execute sale bonds with approved security payable to the commissioner, and bearing 6 per cent interest per annum from day of sale until paid, with a lien retained on the land sold until said bonds are fully paid.

R. B. FERRILL, Commissioner. Oc 14 21 22 24 M.
